

Where do tax advisers work?

Name an employment setting, and there's a CPA tax practitioner working there.

Tax CPAs work at:

- > National and international CPA firms
- > Local practices
- > Non-profit organizations
- > Federal and state government
- > Regional firms
- > Colleges and universities
- > Public and private partnerships
- > Businesses of all types and sizes

Intrigued? Excited?

That's no surprise — there's a wealth of career opportunities for CPA tax specialists!

To learn more, visit:

www.TaxCareerPath.org

to check out the AICPA's Model Tax Curriculum, as well as several tax-related case studies.

Call: 800.513.3037

(Mon – Fri: 9am – 6pm ET)

Email: taxinfo@aicpa.org

aicpa.org/tax

Think Tax!

AICPA® ● | ● | ● Tax Section
Service. Ethics. Advocacy.

ISO Certified

2465-326

You want a career that's interesting,
cutting-edge
and lucrative.

You want to challenge yourself
and make a difference
in your community.

Think Tax!

Think Tax!

CPAs are in high demand.

In fact, the U.S. Labor Department predicts that the number of accounting jobs will increase 18 percent from 2006 to 2016. Career opportunities for new graduates are on the rise!

Everyone has to pay taxes — so there always will be a need for CPAs who can advise individuals and organizations how best to plan their taxes and manage their finances. Plus, the U.S. tax system and business environment are complex, and constantly changing. Thus, individuals and organizations need regular updates and advice on tax-related legislative, regulatory and judicial developments.

In addition to supplying technical competence, the tax specialist must exercise good financial judgement and creativity in order to provide solutions to complex tax problems. Therefore, a thorough understanding of the client's business, investment and personal objectives is required — as well as a thorough understanding of tax laws and their application.

Whether you're helping a multinational corporation, local charity, celebrity or sports star, you can make a difference for your clients!

What are you interested in?

If the answer is a combination of accounting, business, communications and technology, then tax accounting might be right for you!

To prepare for a career as a CPA tax specialist, you'll need to take courses in:

- > Basic accounting
- > Business
- > Communications
- > Technology
- > Individual tax issues
- > Business tax issues

Check out the AICPA's Model Tax Curriculum:

www.TaxCareerPath.org

What do CPA tax specialists do?

They work with individuals and organizations, and companies large and small.

Their services include:

- > Tax planning
- > Analysis of investments and their tax implications
- > Real estate planning
- > Small business advising
- > Trust and estate planning
- > Representation before the IRS, U.S. Tax Court and state taxing authorities
- > Advising on corporate tax accounting issues
- > Design of corporate compensation, benefits and retirement plans
- > Multinational corporate operations
- > Tax return preparation

Tax specialists also work with attorneys, investment banks, insurance company representatives, trustees and actuaries on projects such as starting a business, setting up a charity or trust, or writing tax regulations and policy.

Think Tax!